“ What a beautiful person. Kaye was so compassionate for the Lord. Kaye prayed every day. Her devotion to the Lord was unyielding. Her love and caring for her family and friends could not be measured. Kaye was one of the strongest person I was blessed to call my wife, love and friend. What a wonderful Angel I have now. Until what you promised.

“ Kaye brought so much of herself where ever she went. She could light up a room and make you feel at home no matter where you were. She would come and she our mom and make her laugh when she needed it, even when she was in pain. I know that God got a good angel when he called her up. My prayers are with Sam and the family at this time.

“ Kaye will live in our hearts forever. I've never met anyone as courageous as Kaye when facing adversity such as ovarian cancer. Her strength still amazes me. She told me a couple of weeks ago that she was PROUD of her journey. How many of us can say this? I'm proud she was my friend and prayer partner. She gave me a to do list and I will follow through and make her proud.

“ Mrs. Kaye was there during my weakest moments. When I needed someone, she was there. All day, every day. I was blessed to know and work with her for about a year then kept in close contact thereafter. She was uplifting, courageous, brave, honest, but most of all loving. The love that Kaye shared was a love I will never forget. Many jokes were told, and many tears were shed. She took each day in stride, never really complaining, always feeling tired and always hoping that the treatments would finally end so she could get on with her life. This was my hope too. This beautiful woman, inside and out, was a wonderful friend to me. I hope she forgives me for the many times I brushed her off when she talked about the possibility of dying. I remember once she and I were talking about something I was struggling with and, she said, “Look at me”, meaning that you never know in life so make change even though it’s tough and do the things you want to do and dream about before it’s too late. Those three words came across so clear. Mrs. Kaye was my best friend when we worked together, and she will be dearly missed.

“ Memories, what can I say, there is not enough space on the internet for all of the memories and beautiful moments that we shared. I loved this lady and her wonderful family from the first time I met her. I have never in my life met such a person of such simplicity, humility and Oh Lord..lots of spunk. Kaye never met or a stranger nor a stray animal. This lovely woman suffered inwardly but rarely allowed her condition to subdue her outwardly. All of us at the workplace admired her for her tireless efforts and example of showing us that no matter how tough things got, she was tougher and her belief in the Almighty God was prevalent in knowing that it was Him that was sustaining her. To her family, keep trusting in God knowing that Kaye's spirit lives in all of us
