“ He is my Angel now for real now. I always told everyone that our 2 babies Cody and Dustin had a tender heart and they was Betsy and my Angel's. Them 2 wanted to save any wild animal they found so of course stay pets was always being dragged in and I remember once when Dustin was just learning to read we was on Alanta Hwy and there was an old man sitting on a corner with a sign saying "Stranded in town will work for food " . I noticed Dustin was looking real hard at him. It was rainy and damp and very cold that day. When the light changed and his mother went on all of a sudden Dustin was hollaring and carrying on like crazy. Finally realized he was screaming " Moma you got to go back and give that man so.e money hes cold and hungry and you cant leave him there" well fire it was over Betsy had to turn around because Dustin was having a breskdown.lol. She even told him that all the cash she had was a 20 dollar bill and that was for snacks at the ballfields for him. He didn't care because this man was hungry. He was giving up his snack money. This was on a Friday in 5 o'clock traffic and she was trying to get out of turning around. I finally said you might as well turn now because he was shaking he was scared that man was starving. Well she handed Dustin the 20 to hand to the old man. I told Betsy that it might be hard for her for a while because Dustin was for the first time able to read the signs that homeless people was holding up so she would be having to give all of them money if Dustin was with her because from his reaction he was not going to leave nobody hungry. He had even started crying and tears was rolling down his face. We tried to explain to him that you couldn't give all of them 20 dollars but for a while if he saw somebody out with a sign it was like it was killing him for his momma not to go back. His little heart was so tender he couldn't stand it and he was too young to understand that you cant feed all people. I was proud of him but it broke my heart that he was so hurt and bothered when we couldn't turn around or if we didn't have cash. He was too young to have these worries but it bothered him for years . Now he a real Angel and is working hard I know...
