“ When I think of Grant, my mind is flooded with memories -- and 99.999% are fun. We even had fun working on last-minute projects for work. One of my favorites, though, was when my younger daughter, Madelyn, went to lunch with us. Grant promised to buy her a pair of shoes (her fave thing ever!) if she would eat a single baby octopus from the Asian buffet! Hahaha The look on her face as she struggled to eat it. Finally, she gave up and said she really didn't need any new shoes. LOL It was not going down.

I love Grant so much. I didn't get to see him so much when he joined the Help Desk, but I still consider him one of my besties. <3 <3 <3

Love to Sharon and the family.

“ Always loved me some Grant. When we worked together at the Academy in Selma, I teased him about some of the stuff he brought to eat for lunch. It looked questionable to me and I'm not sure I believed him when he said it was just a cabbage mixture in that bowl. But ..... one thing I do believe is that he loved his family more than anything. Grant was a special guy, so talk about him. Laugh at the funny stuff, cry for the mushy stuff, cherish all the memories, and keep him alive in your hearts. Lifting the family in prayer for peace and comfort.

“ When I think of Grant, I think of Sharon and vice versa. Grant loved Sharon above all else. We met during a kayak trip down Autauga Creek. When they survived the trip on a tandem kayak and were still together when we saw them next, I knew they were special! Grant was a kind soul and cared deeply for others. The support he and Sharon showed to my family will never be forgotten. We love and miss you Grant.

“ I met Grant while working at the front porch grill. He would always give me a hard time and I gave it right back to him! A few years pass and we are at a friend's house and Grant and Sharon show up. We all became forever friends from that point forward. Lots of kayaking, swimming, hanging out, eating, drinking and fun memories. Fly high and rest Grant, we always will have your 6. Love you, Jacque
