“ My dear friend, words can't explain the hurt and pain I've felt since I got the call on last Saturday morning, it's been a week today that you left your earthly home to be in your heavenly home, I miss you so very much, I can't walk out either of my doors without looking over at your house, just praying that I'll see you and rocksi on the porch, or you texting me every morning asking me how am I doing, it's hard for me knowing your gone, reality still hasn't hit me, but I have to face it, I thank God for the season he allowed you to be in my life, You were there for me when some of my family wasn't, I love you friend, and will never forget you, Debbie.

“ Oh Heather. I couldn't believe it when I heard the news. I will forever miss our talks, laughs, fussing about things going on in our lives, and our struggles. I wish your struggle hadn't ended so soon. I know you are happy now though. I am praying for your friends and family. Please know that y'all are not alone in this.

“ I would like her children to know that she loved you more than could be put into mere words. But she spoke lovingly if each of you often. Heather had a huge heart and was a great joy and source of strength to her friends. She literally saved my life a few years ago. Be with the Angels and finally at peace, Heather.

“ *You inspired me to get my butt up and start creating more feathered hair pieces!!! I needed the encouragement at exactly that time to start doing something with my life and you gave me that. A true believer in the people you care about. Our friendship came from cyber space and what a delightful true friendship it's been to me and so many. You have made me laugh so much these last three years!!! I've treasured every like, every comment and every message I've received from you. What an amazing beautiful girl you were and are in the mind's of those that love you. Huge space is our hearts. You're so missed. You're biggest pride and joy were your kids. You had so much pride and love with every mention them and your love is felt.
Gonna miss you my friend. I'll never stop thinking about you.*

“ Kind is a word used a lot for many reasons. For you Heather, it was how you lived your life. You were always kind, hopeful and optimistic even during the most pivotal moments of your own journey that were not always so kind to you. Your story will forever live in our hearts as we all contemplate how to address our own fears and inner doubt. You are incredibly loved and will never be forgotten.

“ I hope that your soul is fully at Peace now❤️ I always that you were the coolest girl in highschool and was too nervous to even make eye contact! But one day you just walked up and spoke, the most real and open minded person I had ever met at that age. You will be very missed! Your memory will never go away

“ Heather, I will always miss our discussions about poetry and trash art. You always found light and humor in the strangest places and were able to relate to all my creative nonsense, sharing your own gems with me in the delirious currency of our friendship. I will forever hold you in my digital heart. Enjoy the clouds, Darling!

“ From the time you entered my life in your colorful jams at the end of 4th grade you filled my life with many memories and adventures. We went from sharing a seat on the school bus, to sharing a bike, and at 16 you became my co-pilot & DJ in my passenger seat with your boom box and jumbo lotion bottle. You most definitely were one of the few people to have my back, wipe my tears, put a fire under my butt, and bring karma on to whoever ruffled my feathers. May you be in peace. I love you and you will always have a special place in my heart
