“ Everyone who knows and loves Wayne knows he wasn't perfect he made his fair share of mistakes but if he loved you he really loved you. And he would stop at nothing to make sure you were ok. I met Wayne when I was twelve years old I went with his sister Virginia to visit him. From that day on if I needed him for anything he was there. We lost touch when he moved to Tennessee but being he was one of my dad's best friends my pop started searching for Wayne recently he said he wanted to see him at least one more time before he leaves this world. Pop was having trouble finding him so he ask me for help. On Jan. 7th (this year) I met up with Wayne and took him to see my dad. The old stories they told from back in the day were needless to say very interesting and funny. Before Wane left to go back to Tennessee they planned to meet the same time next year the last words he said to us is I'll be here I love y'all. This time next year we will have you in our hearts Wayne Mayo. Fly high my friend RIP and fly high. Love you forever and a day.

“ Wayne and I dated when we was 15 years old.He lived in Altoona and me in Guntersville.He didn't have license but he came to see me everyday.He was my first everything.I got pregnant by Wayne and didn't tell him .My mother shipped me off to Birmingham to a unwed mother's home where my baby stayed until we could go to court with Wayne which then he knew had a son.Jason Craig was born July 9,1974.Our son was adopted out.We had no choice.Me and Wayne drifted apart.I saw Wayne on one of our mutual friends fb and ask her to get him in touch with me.I started talking to him again Jan 3,2025...51 years later.We had planned on meeting again on Valentines day .But once again I lost my first love.Im glad we reconnected before he passed.I will love you forever Wayne Mayo...

“ I heard a lot about Johnny and his son from my Aunt Gwen England. I never knew my Dad's family until I was a older but I know Mayo's are a clan that is proud, loved their family and we have been through a lot of good and bad. I pray for my cousins in the loss of their father. Everyone will be in my thoughts and prayers during this time and the day's ahead. God Bless you Johnny, fly with the Angels.
