“ I meet you in 2002 and we became friends quick. We lived together for a few months and really got to know each other. You helped me in so many ways. I have great memories hanging out with you when you got your apartment near the Vulcan. We watched fireworks together and hung out just talking. You always told me the truth and never lied to me. Your honesty and candor was what I needed in a friend. You were the angel I believe God sent to help me save my own life in 2002 and to teach me how to be honest with myself. You were my dear friend and I will always cherish the time we had together. I think I hung out at your apartment near the Vulcan more than with any of my other friends. We had some good times. I remember when I agreed to flat iron your hair. LMAO!! All I can say is you got half your head done because I didn't know what I was getting myself into when agreeing, but we laughed are butts off with half your head flat ironed and the other half curly. Your laugh was infectious and I loved it. I will never forget you and Scotty. I remember when I spent the night on your couch and I woke up screaming in your living room and Scotty coming out with a belt swinging it. And you saying what are you going to do Scotty with a belt, whip the intruder to death. We laughed about that for days. Or when I had a reaction to your cat because I am allergic to cats and you had me wear your sweat pants and tee shirt and walked me through the Walgreens with ice packs over my eyes because they had swollen up from your cat. And here I am almost 5'8" wearing your sweat pants that were to small and only came to mid calf looking like a goof trying to get some Benadryl as you walked me through the Walgreens instead of just going in with my debit card and buying me some. It was funny after the fact, but I trusted you to guide me with my eyes swollen closed and ice packs over my eyes looking ridiculous. We laughed about it later, but I trusted you more than I have ever trusted another living soul. I will never forget you and will never forget that you don't call Jennifer during an Alabama game ever. I love you sweet friend, but until I meet you again I will say I will see you later. Much love,
Melanie

“ You where a beautiful flower plucked from the flower bed to be a sweet-smelling savor in the presence of your maker. But it is hard to come to terms with the fact that we will never hear from you again. Sweet memories fill me anytime I remember the advice you shared with me and will forever be cherished. I found consolation in you whenever I got downhearted. Your benevolent smile lifted my heart anytime you were near me. It’s gone now! You had a healing voice, and infectious laugh! The glow in your eyes always sent encouragement to far and wide. You were a role model, and now we can proudly say that you left footprints in the sands of time. You were calm even when a situation seemed unbearable. Admittedly, we have lost a precious jewel!

I look back fondly on the years we spent watching fireworks at your home near the Vulcan, always praying you wouldn't have to make a hospital visit with one of the boys! We would sit and listen to the rock station. I always loved when Midge and Daddy said we where going to Jennifer's house. You loved me and when I had a daughter you loved her! You where even the first person to give her Bacon, you loved bacon and even joked about her calling you the bacon lady, you are!! I will always share that memory with Nova. Oh how I wish she could have had more time with you! You know in many ways you where like an Aunt to me! Most definitely one of my role models and someone I inspire to be like!! You where such a shining light in this world!

Fare thee well Auntie J. You left a mark in our hearts, that nothing will ever erase.

You were a gem and will remain to be cherished.
