“Leroy Arthur was one of those very few individuals who you never heard a negative remark about. Leroy was kind, thoughtful and had a heart as big as a house. He loved sharing stories and memories of his younger days with his friends and he loved to make folks laugh. He never met a stranger and made friends with new acquaintances immediately.

Leroy loved the outdoors and loved hunting; turkey mostly but he was a great deer hunter as well. More than hunting wild turkey, he loved to teach others to hunt. He, in fact, taught me and I can truly say he was a better teacher than I was a student.

Leroy loved children. He took great joy in his own children and grandchildren but he loved and enjoyed the children of his friends. He took great delight in teaching children woodsmanship and hunting skills. He took great delight in helping others but mostly, he delighted in living and making others happy.

I loved Leroy Arthur. I will miss him greatly and I can't imagine every trying to call a turkey again without thinking of him.
