It's been nearly five months, and it's still hard to believe. Every truck, every car, every song reminds me of you. You were my walking encyclopedia, always bringing positive messages and great energy. I miss you so much. This has been incredibly difficult, but I've been dealing with it the best I can. I've put God first to heal my heart and cherish the good memories we shared. My thoughts and prayers are with your family, Rickey. I love you, and I miss you 💋💔

I miss you so much , counseling is not really helping . I miss your number and your photos popping up on my phone. I miss your good morning text, if only I knew I didn't have more time with you . Things would have been different. I can't call you for advice anymore. My heart continues to be broken, I didn't get a chance to say goodbye 😭😭😭. I'm praying peace in my heart and continues praying for your family.

My Lord, my Lord, what a beautiful tribute, I enjoyed watching it, Rickey was a class mate of mine, been knowing him since elementary, him & Sabrina, I've never had any issues with either of them, may they both rest in peace, in Jesus's name!
